DOCUMENT HISTORY ----- 39

1. Introduction

- 1.1 This document is a Data Sharing Protocol (for the purpose of this Protocol, the terms data and information are synonymous). The aim of this document is to facilitate sharing of information between the public, private and voluntary sectors so that members of the public receive the services they need.
- 1.2 Organisations involved in providing services to the public have a legal responsibility to ensure that their use of personal information is lawful, properly controlled and that an individual's rights are respected. The balance between the need to share information to provide a quality service and the protection of confidentiality is often a difficult one to achieve.
- 1.3 The legal situation regarding the protection and use of personal information can be unclear. This situation may lead to information not being readily available to those who have a genuine need to know in order for them to do their job properly. See Appendix B for relevant Legislation.

2. Scope

- 2.1 This overarching Protocol sets out the principles for information sharing between Partner Organisations (Appendix A).
- 2.2 This Protocol sets out the rules that all people working for or with Partner Organisations must follow when using and sharing information.
- 2.3 The Protocol applies to the following information:
 - 2.3.1 All personal information processed by the organisations including electronically (e.g. computer systems, CCTV, Audio etc), or in manual records.
 - 2.3.2 Anonymised, including aggregated, personal data. The considerations, though less stringent, must take into account factors such as commercial or business sensitive data, and the effect of many data sets being applied.
- 2.4 This Protocol will be further extended to include other public sector, private and voluntary organisations working in partnership to deliver services.

- 2.5 The specific purpose for using and sharing information will be defined in the Data Exchange Agreements that will be specific to the Partner Organisations sharing information.

3. Aims and Objectives

- 3.1 The aim of this Protocol is to provide a framework for Partner Organisations and to establish and regulate working practices between Partner Organisations.

The Protocol also provides guidance to ensure the secure transfer of information, and that information shared is for justifiable 'need to know' purposes (see 6.3 and 11.6).

- 3.2 Objectives include:

- a. To guide Partner Organisations on how to share personal information lawfully.
- b. To explain the security and confidentiality laws and principles of information sharing.
- c. To increase awareness and understanding of the key issues.
- d. To emphasise the need to develop and use Data Exchange Agreements.
- e. To support a process, which will monitor and review all data flows.
- f. To encourage flows of data.
- g. To protect the Partner Organisations from accusations of wrongful use of sensitive personal data.
- h. To identify the lawful basis for information sharing.

- 3.3 By becoming a Partner to this Protocol, Partner Organisations will:
- a. Apply the Information Commissioner's Code of Practice's 'Fair Processing' and 'Best Practices' Standards;
 - b. Adhere to or demonstrate a commitment to achieving the appropriate compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998; (See Appendix B).
 - c. Develop local Data Exchange Agreements that specify transaction details. (See Appendix E for template).
 - d. Apply NHS Caldicott confidentiality standards.
- 3.4 All Partners will be expected to promote staff awareness of the major requirements for Information Sharing. This will be supported by the production of appropriate guidelines where required that will be made available to all staff via the Partners' Intranet sites and/or via other communication media.

4. The Legal Framework

- 4.1 The principal legislation concerning the protection and use of personal information is listed below and further explained in Appendix B:
- Human Rights Act 1998 (article 8)
 - The Freedom of Information Act 2000
 - Data Protection Act 1998
 - The Common Law Duty of Confidence
- 4.2 Other legislation may be relevant when sharing specific information. For example, the sharing of information relating to children may involve (but not limited to) consideration of any of the following:
- The Children Act 1989
 - The Children Act 2004
 - Education Act 2002
 - Education Act 1996
 - Learning & Skills Act 2000

- Education (SEN) Regulations 2001
- Children (Leaving Care) Act 2000
- Protection of Children Act 1999
- Immigration & Asylum Act 1999
- Local Government Act 2000
- Criminal Justice Act 2002
- Crime and Disorder Act 1998
- National Health Service Act 1977
- Health Act 1999
- The Adoption and Children Act 2002

5. Data covered by this Protocol

5.1 Data covered by this Protocol refers to all personal and anonymised information as defined in the Data Protection Act 1998 (DPA) and as amended by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (Section 68).

5.2 Personal Information

5.2.1 The term 'personal information' refers to any information held as either manual or electronic records, or records held by means of audio and/or visual technology, about an individual who can be personally identified from that information.

5.2.2 The term is further defined in the DPA as:

- Data relating to a living individual who can be identified from the data, or
- Any other information which is in the possession of, or is likely to come into the possession of the Data Controller (i.e. person or organisation collecting that information).
- Consideration should also be given to relevant case law that has defined personal data such as the Durant ruling.¹

5.2.3 The DPA also defines certain classes of personal information as 'sensitive data' where additional conditions must be met for that information to be used and disclosed lawfully.

5.2.4 An individual may consider certain information about themselves to be particularly 'sensitive' and may request other data items to be kept especially confidential e.g. any use of a pseudonym where their true identity needs to be withheld to protect them.

5.2.5 All medical data is deemed to be 'sensitive personal data' and is held under a duty of confidence.

5.3 Anonymised Data

5.3.1 Partners must ensure anonymised data, especially when combined with other information from different agencies, does not identify an individual, either directly or by summation.

5.3.2 Anonymised data about an individual can be shared without consent (subject to certain restrictions regarding health/social care records), in a form where the identity of the individual cannot be recognised i.e. when:

- Reference to any data item that could lead to an individual being identified has been removed.
- The data cannot be combined with any data sources held by a Partner to produce personal identifiable data.

6. Purposes for Sharing Information

6.1 Information should only be shared for a specific lawful purpose, basis or where appropriate consent has been obtained.

6.2 Staff should only have access to personal information on a justifiable need to know basis, in order for them to perform their duties in connection with the services they are there to deliver.

6.3 Having this agreement in place does not give license for unrestricted access to information another Partner Organisation may hold. It lays the parameters for the safe and secure sharing of information for a justifiable need to know purpose.

- 6.4 Every member of staff has an obligation to protect confidentiality and are responsible to ensure that information is only disclosed to those who have a right to see it.
- 6.5 All staff should be trained and be fully aware of their responsibilities to maintain the security and confidentiality of personal information. Staff contracts also contain a clause on confidentiality and all employees are bound by this.
- 6.6 All staff should follow the procedures and standards that have been agreed and incorporated within this Information Sharing Protocol and any associated Data Exchange Agreements.
- 6.7 Each Partner Organisation will operate lawfully in accordance with the 8 Data Protection Principles, see Appendix B.
- 6.8 Clinical/Social Care staff are also bound by their appropriate professional codes of conduct.

7. Restrictions on use of Information Shared

- 7.1 Information must only be used for the purpose(s) specified at the time of disclosure(s) as defined in the relevant Data Exchange Agreement (DEA). It is a condition of access that it must not be used for any other purpose without the permission of the Data Controller who supplied the data, unless an exemption applies within the Data Protection Act 1998 or the information is required to be provided under the terms of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and any subsidiary regulation.
- 7.2 Additional statutory restrictions apply to the disclosure of certain information for example: Criminal Records, HIV and AIDS, Assisted Conception and Abortion, Child Protection. Information about these will be included in the relevant DEA.

8. Consent

- 8.1 Consent is not the only means by which data can be disclosed. Under the Data Protection Act 1998, in order to disclose personal information, at least one condition in Schedule 2 must be met. In order to disclose sensitive personal information at least one condition in both Schedules 2 and 3, must be met. See Appendix B and Glossary for explanation (Appendix C).
- 8.2 Where a Partner Organisation has a statutory obligation to disclose personal information then the consent of the data subject is not required; the data subject should be informed that such an obligation exists. However common law duties of confidentiality may still exist.
- 8.3 If a Partner Organisation decides not to disclose some or all of the personal information, the requesting authority must be informed. For example the Partner Organisation may be relying on an exemption or on the inability to obtain consent from the data subject.
- 8.4 Consent has to be signified by some communication between the organisation and the Data Subject. If the Data Subject does not respond, this cannot be assumed as implied consent. When using sensitive data, explicit consent must be obtained subject to any existing exemptions. In such cases the Data Subject's consent must be clear and cover items such as the specific details of processing; the data to be processed; and the purpose for processing.
- 8.5 If consent is used as a form of justification for disclosure, the data subject must have the right to withdraw consent at any time.
- 8.6 Specific procedures will apply where the data subject is either under the age of 16, or where the data subject does not have the capacity to give informed consent. In these circumstances the relevant policy of the Partner Organisation should be referred to. Consideration should also be given to other case law, such as *Gillick*², and the requirements of the Mental Capacity Act 2005.

9. Organisational Responsibilities

- 9.1 Each Partner Organisation is responsible for ensuring that their organisational and security measures protect the lawful use of information shared under this Protocol.

² Gillick v West Norfolk and Wisbech Area Health Authority [1985] 3 All ER 402 (HL)

- 9.2 Partner Organisations will accept the security levels on supplied information and handle the information accordingly.
- 9.3 Partner Organisations accept responsibility for independently or jointly auditing compliance with the Data Exchange Agreements in which they are involved within reasonable time-scales.
- 9.4 Every organisation should make it a condition of employment that employees will abide by their agreed rules and policies in relation to the protection and use of confidential information. This condition should be written into employment contracts and any failure by an individual to follow the policy should be dealt with in accordance with that organisation's disciplinary procedures.
- 9.5 Every organisation should ensure that their contracts with external service providers abide by their rules and policies in relation to the protection and use of confidential information.
- 9.6 The Partner Organisation originally supplying the information should be notified of any breach of confidentiality or incident involving a risk or breach of the security of information.
- 9.7 Partner Organisations should have documented policies for retention, weeding and secure waste destruction.
- 9.8 Partner Organisations should be committed to having procedures in place to ensure the quality of information. It is suggested that they consider having a Data Quality Strategy. A Strategy will secure and ensure the maintenance of good quality standards and identify areas for improvement.
- 9.9 Partner Organisations must be aware that a Data Subject may withdraw consent to processing (i.e. Section 10 DPA) unless an available exemption applies. Where the Partner Organisations rely on consent as the condition for processing, then withdrawal means that the condition for processing will no longer apply. Any such withdrawal of consent should be communicated to Partner Organisations and processing cease as soon as possible.
- 9.10 Partner Organisations must be committed to having procedures in place to address complaints relating to inappropriate disclosure or failure to disclose personal information. Individuals must be provided with information about these procedures.

- 9.11 The sixth principle of the Data Protection Act 1998 provides individuals the right to have access to information held about them with limited exemptions. Partner Organisations must ensure that only appropriate access to information is granted therefore appropriate procedures must be in place to ensure individual's rights are met.

10. Individual Responsibilities

- 10.1 Every individual working for the organisations listed in this Partnership Agreement is personally responsible for the safekeeping of any information they obtain, handle, use and disclose.
- 10.2 Every individual should know how to obtain, use and share information they legitimately need to do their job.
- 10.3 Every individual has an obligation to request proof of identity, or takes steps to validate the authorisation of another before disclosing any information.
- 10.4 Every individual should uphold the general principles of confidentiality, follow the rules laid down in this Protocol and seek advice when necessary.
- 10.5 Every individual should be aware that any violation of privacy or breach of confidentiality is unlawful and a disciplinary matter that could lead to their dismissal. Criminal proceedings might also be brought against that individual.

11. General Principles

- 11.1 The principles outlined in this Protocol are recommended good standards of practice or legal requirements that should be adhered to by all Partner Organisations.
- 11.2 This Protocol sets the core standards applicable to all Partner Organisations and should form the basis of all Data Exchange Agreements established to secure the flow of personal information.

- 11.3 This Protocol should be used in conjunction with local service level agreements, contracts or any other formal agreements that exist between the Partner Organisations.
- 11.4 All parties signed up to this Protocol are responsible for ensuring that organisational measures are in place to protect the security and integrity of personal information and that their staff are properly trained to understand their responsibilities and comply with the law.
- 11.5 This Protocol has been written to set out clear and consistent principles that satisfy the requirements of the law that all staff must follow when using and sharing personal information.
- 11.6 The specific purpose for use and sharing information will be defined in the Data Exchange Agreements that will be specific to the Partner Organisations sharing information.

12. Review Arrangements

- 12.1 This overarching Agreement will be formally reviewed annually by NHS Birmingham East and North, unless new or revised legislation or national guidance necessitates an earlier review.
- 12.2 Any of the signatories can request an extraordinary review at any time where a joint discussion or decision is necessary to address local service developments.

APPENDIX B - LEGAL CONTEXT

THE DATA PROTECTION ACT 1998

Data Protection legislation governs the standards for the processing of personal data including the collection, use of and disclosure of such information. The legislation requires that Data Controllers meet certain obligations. It also give individuals or 'Data Subjects' certain rights with regard to their own personal data. The main standard for processing personal data is compliance with the eight data protection principles summarised as follows:

- i) All personal data will be obtained and processed fairly and lawfully.
- ii) Personal data will be held only for the purposes specified.
- iii) Only personal data will be held which are adequate, relevant and not excessive in relation to the purpose for which the data are held.
- iv) Personal data are accurate and where necessary, kept up to date.
- v) Personal data will be held for no longer than is necessary.
- vi) Personal Data will be processed in accordance with the Rights of the Data Subject.
- vii) Appropriate technical and organisational measures shall be taken against unauthorised or unlawful processing of personal data and against accidental loss or destruction of, or damage to, personal data.
- viii) Personal data shall not be transferred to countries outside the European Economic area except in limited circumstances

The first principle states that personal data shall be processed fairly and lawfully and shall not be processed unless at least one Schedule 2 condition and in the case of 'sensitive personal data', at least one Schedule 3 condition is also met.

The type of information being disclosed, for the purposes of this Exchange Agreement may constitute 'sensitive personal data' which means that at least one of both Schedule 2 and Schedule 3 conditions must be satisfied.

Even in the event that the prevention and detection of crime exemption (Section 29 Data Protection Act) is being relied upon, or other power such as S.115 Crime and Disorder Act, Schedules 2 and 3 conditions must still be satisfied.

Data Protection Act 1998 (Principle 1) Schedules 2 and 3.

The most relevant schedules are:

- The processing is however likely to be necessary for compliance with any legal obligation (3), such as the Police Acts and the Local Government Act 2000.
- It is likely that the most relevant condition will be that the processing is necessary for the exercise of any other functions of a public nature exercised in the public interest by any person (5)(d).
- The legitimate interests (6) condition may be appropriate but cases are likely to arise whereby a service user could clearly challenge this, depending upon the circumstances.

The most relevant conditions in Schedule 3 are s3 and s7.

Section 3.

(1) The processing is necessary:

(a) in order to protect the vital interests of the data subject, or another person, in a case where:

(i) consent cannot be given by, or

(ii) on behalf of the data subject, or the data controller cannot reasonably be expected to obtain the consent of the data subject, or

(b) in order to protect the vital interests of another person, in a case where consent by or on behalf of the data subject has been unreasonably withheld.

Section 7.

(1) Processing is necessary:

(a) for the administration of justice,

(b) for the exercise of any functions conferred on any person by or under an enactment.

Although the aforementioned conditions are likely to apply to any or all of the variable circumstances, it is likely that for the purposes of this Exchange Agreement one of the additional conditions specified in secondary legislation, for example: S.I No 417 The Data Protection (Processing of Sensitive Personal Data) Order 2000 and (Draft) The Data Protection (Processing of Sensitive Personal Data) Order 2006, may apply.

S.I. 417 Data Protection (Processing of Sensitive Personal Data) Order 2000

The Order lists additional circumstances in which sensitive personal data may be processed. For example, it covers processing for the purposes of the prevention or detection of any unlawful act, where seeking the consent of the data subject would prejudice those purposes. It also covers processing required to discharge functions involving the provision of services such as confidential counselling and advice where the subject's consent has not been obtained.

In each of the examples above, processing would have to be "in the substantial public interest". This could mean, for example, that processing is necessary to protect public safety or to protect vulnerable people.

Draft S.I. Data Protection (Processing of Sensitive Personal Data) Order 2006

The Order specifies that information about a criminal conviction or caution may be processed for the purpose of administering an account relating to the payment card used in the commissioning of one of the listed offences relating to indecent images of children.

THE HUMAN RIGHTS ACT 1998

The UK Human Rights Act 1998 gives further effect in domestic law to Articles of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR). The Act requires all domestic law be compatible with the Convention Articles and places a legal obligation on all public authorities to act in a manner compatible with the convention. Should a public authority fail to act in such a manner then legal action can be taken under Section 7 of the Act.

Article 8 of the Act states that :

"Everyone has the right to respect for his private and family life, his home and his correspondence and that there shall be no interference by a public authority with this right except as in accordance with the law".

It is likely that this exchange of information will be for the purposes of one of the following legitimate aims:

- In the interests of national security.
- Public Safety.
- Economic well being of the country.
- The prevention of crime and disorder.
- The protection of health or morals.
- The protection of the rights or freedoms of others.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT 2000

Information held by or on behalf of a public authority may be disclosed to a party requesting it except where a statutory exemption applies. For example, personal data is normally exempt under the Act (but may be disclosable under DPA 1998); as is information provided under a duty of confidence.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ACT

The main power specific to local authorities is section 2 Local Government Act 2000 - the power of "well-being". This enables local authorities to do "anything" to promote social, economic, or social well-being in their area provided the act is not specifically forbidden by another statute (including the Data Protection Act) and that in carrying out the act it gives regard to its own community strategy. For example, all councils are taking measures, including data sharing, to reduce crime in their area in order to promote well-being. In addition s.111 Local Government Act 1972 enables local authorities to do anything conducive or incidental to the discharge of any of its functions, providing it has specific statutory authority to carry out those main functions in the first place. The above are general powers available to local authorities. In addition, authorities are granted statutory powers relating to specific activities and these should be referred to as appropriate in the Data Exchange Agreement.

POLICE ACT 1996

The Police Act 1996 gives a Constable certain powers. Section 30(1) gives constables all the powers and privileges of a constable throughout England and Wales and Section 30(5) defines these powers as powers under any enactment when ever passed or made. These powers include the investigation and detection of crime, apprehension and prosecution of offenders, protection of life and property and maintenance of law and order. Under the Police Reform Act 2002, the Chief Constable can delegate certain powers to police staff.

In addition, the Code of Practice on the Management of Police Information 2005 defines the policing purpose as:-

- protecting life and property,
- preserving order,
- preventing the commission of offences,
- bringing offenders to justice,
- any duty or responsibility arising from common or statute law

The policing purpose set out in the Code does not replace or supersede any existing duty or power defined by statute or common law. In addition, this does not define every policing activity and does not mean that there is no legal basis for performing such activities. For example, roads policing, public order, counter-terrorism or protection of children or other vulnerable groups while not referred to explicitly are non the less legitimate policing functions.

THE CRIME AND DISORDER ACT 1998

Section 115 of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 confers a power on any 'relevant authority' (which are the police, local authority, health authority and probation service or to any other person acting on behalf of such authority) to exchange that information which is 'necessary' or 'expedient' to help implement the provisions of the Act which includes contributing to local strategies to reduce crime and disorder. The parties to this exchange agreement are relevant authorities for the purposes of this legislation.

Section 17 Crime and Disorder Act 1998 requires that all Local Authorities consider crime and disorder reduction while exercising their duties. Sections 5 and 6 of the Crime and Disorder Act imposes a general duty upon local authorities to formulate and implement a strategy for the reduction of crime and disorder in its area.

COMMON LAW DUTY OF CONFIDENCE

The duty of confidence falls within common law as opposed to statutory law and derives from cases considered by the courts. There are generally three categories of exception to the duty of confidence:

- Where there is a legal compulsion to disclose.
- Where there is an overriding duty to the public.
- Where the individual to whom the information relates consented.

Partners should consider which of these conditions are the most relevant ones for the purposes of this Exchange Agreement. The guidance from the Information Commissioner states that because such decisions to disclose 'in the public interest' involves the exercise of judgement, it is important that they are taken at an appropriate level and that procedures are developed for taking those decisions. The partners to this Agreement should document within this Agreement how this duty will be maintained, e.g. need to know.

CALDICOTT

Where Health Data is concerned; when sharing information with others, due regard must be given to the Caldicott principles listed below. Ensure that all the conditions are met before sending the data. If unsure then speak to your line manager, or the appropriate Caldicott Guardian.

Caldicott Principles:

- Justify the purpose before sharing information.
- Only use patient identifiable data when absolutely necessary.
- Use the minimum that is required, do not share more data than is necessary, i.e. do not send the whole patient record when only the request relates to a recent event.
- Access to the data should be on a strict need to know basis.
- Be aware of your responsibilities in complying with organisational policies relating to confidentiality.
- Understand the law, if uncertain, speak to you line manager.

Where Health Data is concerned Health staff, and others working in partnership with them, should be aware of the concept of Safe Haven.

Safe Havens will:

- Provide a secure location restricting access to only authorised staff and will be locked outside normal hours.
- Be staffed by those individuals with authority to access confidential information and who are under contractual and statutory obligations to maintain confidentiality.
- Ensure that no confidential information will be released to parties outside the Trust unless it is deemed appropriate. Health Staff should make reference to the Caldicott Principles listed above and seek advice from the Caldicott Guardian where uncertain.
- Ensure that wherever possible the NHS number is present and person identifiable data has been removed.

Appendix C - Glossary of Terms

Accessible Record – unstructured personal information usually in manual form relating to health, education, social work and housing.

Agent – acts on behalf of the Data Subject.

Aggregated – collated information in a tabular format.

Anonymised data – data where an Organisation does not have the means to identify an individual from the data they hold. If the Data Controller has information, which allows the Data Subject to be identified, regardless of whether or not they intend to identify the individual is immaterial - in the eyes of the Information Commissioner this is not anonymous data – see Pseudonymised data. Data Controller must be able to justify why and how the data is no longer personal.

CCTV – close circuit television.

Consent – The Information Commissioner’s legal guidance to the Data Protection Act 1998 is to refer to the Directive, which defines consent as “...any freely given specific and informed indication of his wishes by which the Data Subject signifies his agreement to personal data relating to him being processed” (3.1.5).

Data/Information –

- a) Information being processed by means of equipment operating automatically; or
- b) Information recorded with the intention it be processed by such equipment.
- c) Recorded as part of a relevant filing system; or
- d) Not in (a),(b) or (c), but forming part of an accessible record.
- e) Recorded information held by a public authority and does not fall within any of paragraphs (a) to (d).

Data Controller – a person or a legal body such as a business or public authority who jointly or alone determines the purposes for which personal data is processed.

Data Exchange Agreement – the local Information Sharing Agreement based on the attached template Appendix E.

Data Flows – the movement of information internally and externally, both within and between organisations.

Data Processing – any operation performed on data. The main examples are collection, retention, deletion, use and disclose.

Data Processor – operates on behalf of the Data Controller. Not staff.

Data Set – a defined group of information.

Data Subject – an individual who is the subject of personal information.

Disclosure – the passing of information from the Data Controller to another organisation or individual.

Duty of Confidentiality – everyone has a duty under Common Law to safeguard personal information.

European Economic Area (EEA) – this consists of the fifteen EU members together with Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway.

Fair Processing – to inform the Data Subject how the data is to be processed before processing occurs.

Fully informed implied consent - In order to comply with the Data Protection Act, to validate implied consent if necessary and to satisfy moral obligations, the sender must always strive to fully inform the subject wherever possible of the uses to which their information will be put, what disclosures could be envisaged and what the consequences of the processing are. All parties must strive to be open and transparent.

Health Professional – In the Data Protection Act 1998 "health professional" means any of the following who is registered as:

A medical practitioner, dentist, optician, pharmaceutical chemist, nurse, midwife or health visitor, and osteopaths.

and

Any person who is registered as a member of a profession to which the Professions Supplementary to Medicine Act 1960 currently extends to, clinical psychologists, child psychotherapists and speech therapist, music therapist employed by a health service body, and scientist employed by such a body as head of department.

Health Record – any information relating to health, produced by a health professional.

Need to know – to access and supply the minimum amount of information required for the defined purpose.

Personal Data – means data relating to a living individual who can be identified from those data (including opinion and expression of intention).

Processing – any operation performed on data. Main examples are collect, retain, use, disclosure and deletion.

Pseudonymised data – where personal information has been “de-identified” i.e. personal information which directly identifies an individual, e.g. name or date of birth and address used together, has been replaced by non-identifying, artificial data, e.g. NHS number or other code. Pseudonymised data is partially anonymised data and the identification of an individual can be re-established using other available data held by the Data Controller organisation. See also Anonymised data

Purpose – the use / reason for which information is stored or processed.

Recipient – anyone who receives personal information for the purpose of specific inquiries

Relevant Filing System – two levels of structure, (i) filing system structured by some criteria (ii) each file structured so that particular information is readily accessible.

Sensitive Personal Data – The DPA defines sensitive personal data as:

(a) the racial or ethnic origin of the data subject;

(b) his/ her political opinions;

(c) his/ her religious beliefs or other beliefs of a similar nature;

(d) whether he/ she is a member of a trade union (within the meaning of the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992);

(e) his/ her physical or mental health or condition;

(f) his/ her sexual life;

(g) the commission or alleged commission by him/ her of any offence; or

(h) any proceedings for any offence committed or alleged to have been committed by him/ her, the disposal of such proceedings or the sentence of any court in such proceedings.

Serious Crime – There is no absolute definition of "serious" crime, but section 116 of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 identifies some "serious arrest-able offences".

These include:

- Treason
- Murder
- Manslaughter
- Rape
- Kidnapping
- Certain sexual offences
- Causing an explosion
- Certain firearms offences
- Taking of hostages
- Hijacking
- Causing death by reckless driving
- Offences under prevention of terrorism legislation (disclosures now covered by the Prevention of Terrorism Act 1989).

Subject Access – the individual's right to obtain a copy of information held about themselves.

Third Party – any person who is not the Data Subject, the Data Controller, the Data Processor (includes Health, Housing, Education, Carers, Voluntary Sector etc. as well as members of the public).

Appendix D - Confidentiality Statement

To enable the exchange of information betweenandto be carried out in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998, the Human Rights Act 1998 and the Common Law Duty of Confidentiality, all attendees are asked to agree to the following. This Agreement will be recorded.

This information sharing activity contains confidential patient/ person identifiable information. In order to comply with the law protecting confidentiality, the information can only be supplied subject to the following conditions:

1. A senior member of staff in your organisation must take personal responsibility for maintaining confidentiality.
2. The information is stored in a secure environment at all times (e.g. in a locked cupboard, or where stored electronically protected by passwords).
3. Once the task has been completed the original information and all copies will be destroyed or returned to NHS BEN as soon as possible.
4. Only members of staff legitimately involved in the work should have access to this information in order to carry out the agreed task(s).
5. Members of staff accessing this information are aware of the conditions under which it is supplied, and have signed an honorary contract with this organisation.
6. The information will only be used for the purpose for which it is supplied.
7. Information supplied will not be disclosed to any other organisation or individual.

This agreement must be signed by a member of the organisation with sufficient seniority to ensure that these terms are met.

I have read, understood and agree to abide by these conditions.

Appendix E - Data Exchange Agreement (DEA) Template

(All wording in bold should be included in your Data Exchange Agreement and all the sections need to be included. If the wording is not in bold it is a guide on what you should include in your agreement, however the content should be your own. Please do not include this paragraph in your Agreement – it is here as a guide only!).

1. Policy Statements and Purpose of this Data Exchange Agreement

This section should include a policy statement that should explain why there is a need to exchange data with each of the Partner organisation(s) and the aims and objectives that this will achieve.

2. Legal Basis for Data Exchange

Each partner organisation should be able to identify their lawful basis to exchange this data. This lawful basis may come from common law, statute or legal precedence, which may be supported by Home Office guidance, professional/executive bodies, e.g. Dept of Health, Association of Chief Police Officers, Dept of Education, etc. This will enable partners to defend a challenge with regard to the Data Protection Act 1998 and/or the Human Rights Act 1998. The lawful basis for some of the relevant authorities is listed in Appendix B, you should delete those which do not apply and add any others depending on which organisations are represented in your data exchange process.

It is also important to ensure that any partner/individual which receives information and holds and processes such information is able to identify a paragraph in Schedule 2 of the Data Protection Act 1998 to ensure that the processing is fair and lawful. If the information is sensitive information, a paragraph in Schedule 3 will also need to be identified.

Where the legal basis for Data Exchange is based on consent (in the Agreement), partners should include details relating to:

- Obtaining consent.
- Establishing fitness to give consent.
- Checking on whether consent already exists.
- Recording consent.
- Time limits for consent.

This DEA has been developed to achieve the objectives as set out in Section 1. It is the intention that all aspects of information exchange and disclosure relating to this Exchange Agreement shall comply with legislation that protects personal data - see Appendix B.

3. Data

3.1 What data is it necessary to exchange?

The data you exchange must be proportionate and should be the minimum amount needed to achieve the purpose identified in Section 1. You should decide if you could do this using data which does not identify individuals (anonymising/ pseudonymising the data).

If data which identifies individuals must be used, you should specify as closely as possible the details and the type of data that each partner will disclose, and to which other partner. For example, client name, home address, date of birth. If forms are used to request or disclose the data, attach them as an appendix.

You may find that completing the form below will assist, alternatively you could list each partner in turn and specify what data they will exchange and to whom. This is to ensure that it is clear who the Data Controller is for each data item and that any records which are subsequently created from information exchanged under this Agreement should identify the source of that data.

The data sets shown are for example only and you use that which applies and add any specific data sets not listed here

Data Set	Who from	Who to	Why	Which Organisation owns the information	Frequency of Sharing	How will information be exchanged	How long will data be held for
Name
D.O.B
Address1
Address2
Address3
Postcode
Contact Number
Gender
Religion
Occupation
Language
Type of Occupancy
Ethnic Origin of victim

Further to this thewill exchange the following additional data:

Geographical information system co-ordinates to within 200 square metres.

Incident reference numbers

The date that the incident was first reported

The date of the incident

Ensure that all data items to be exchanged are listed with a clear 'data definition'. All parties to the Agreement should have a common understanding of the information to be provided / received.

For example: Contact Name = the name of the client's carer (usually relative or family friend) who may be contacted by professional carers.

3.2 Who is going to be responsible for exchanging this data and ensuring data is accurate?

Each partner should identify the post holder(s) responsible on a day-to-day basis for this data exchange along with their contact details. This person should also be responsible for the accuracy of any data exchanged.

3.3 How will you keep a record of what information has been exchanged?

The partners should document in the Data Exchange Agreement (DEA) how they will record what information has been exchanged.

3.4 How is this information going to be exchanged?

The partners should give consideration to how this information will be exchanged and document that process in the DEA. E.g. during XXX meetings, face to face contact. This must take account of the security classification of the information, for example personally identifiable information should not be sent by email.

3.5 Who will have access to this data and what may they use it for?

The DEA should identify who in the receiving agencies can have access to the data and what it can be used for.

3.6 Timescales

If there are any statutory or organisational time limits by which the data is required these should be included in the DEA.

3.7 How securely does the data need to be stored?

Each Partner Organisations should ensure that the minimum standards of security, that they require are agreed with Partner Organisations with whom their data will be exchanged and included in the DEA. This should take account of the security classification of the data

Each partner signing this Data Exchange Agreement and any individual signing the Confidentiality Agreement agree to adhere to the agreed standards of security. If there is a security breach in which data received from another party under this DEA is compromised, the originator will be notified at the earliest opportunity via the post holder identified at 3.2 who must forward details to the Information Security Section.

If you do not have a security classification scheme which includes handling rules, the following points should be considered to assist you - add and delete them as necessary:

- Ensure that unauthorised staff and other individuals are prevented from gaining access to personal data.
- Ensure visitors are received and supervised at all times in areas where personal data is stored.
- Ensure that all computer systems that contain personal data are password protected. The level of security should depend on the type of data held, but ensure that only those who need to use the data have access.
- Do not leave your workstation/PC signed on when you are not using it.
- Lock away disks, tapes, other removable media or printouts when not in use.
- Ensure all new software is virus-checked prior to loading onto an organisations machines. Do the same for disks, memory sticks and any other similar removable device.
- Exercise caution in what is sent via email and to whom it is sent, do not transmit personal data by email.
- Check that the intended recipient of a fax containing personal data is aware that it is being sent and can ensure security on delivery.
- Ensure your paper files are stored in secure locations and only accessed by those who need to use them.
- Do not disclose personal data to anyone other than the Data Subject unless you have the Data Subject's consent, or it is a registered disclosure, required by law, or permitted by a Data Protection Act 1998 exemption.
- Do not leave information on public display in any form. Clear your desk at the end of each day and lock sensitive material away safely.

3.8 How long are you going to keep the data?

Each partner should agree and document in the DEA how long they are going to keep the paper based and electronic data having given consideration to the retention and disposal policy of the other partners. This information must be included for every item in the table above or, where appropriate, the complete data set.

3.9 Further Use of Data

This section should specify whether the Partners agree to any further use of the Data and the process to be followed if a Partner wishes to use the Data for purposes other than defined in this Agreement.

4. Breach of Confidentiality

This section should explain the procedure Partners will follow if there is a breach of this Agreement by a Partner or a third party who has received data under this Agreement. You should include: -

How partners will be notified and which post holder should be notified in each agency.

- How this will be investigated e.g. Data Commissioner, Police?
- Agree what action will be taken e.g. disciplinary action, criminal proceedings.

5. Complaints Procedures

Each partner must be committed to having procedures in place to address complaints relating to inappropriate disclosure or failure to disclose personal information. Individual must be provided with information about these procedures.

6. Access to Information

The sixth principle of the Data Protection Act 1998 provides individuals the right to have access to information held about them with limited exemptions. It is necessary to ensure that only appropriate access to information is granted therefore the agreement must detail the responsibilities of each organisation to ensure individuals rights are met appropriately.

7. Indemnity

Each partner will keep each of the other partners fully indemnified against any and all costs, expenses and claims arising out of any breach of this Agreement and in particular, but without limitation, the unauthorised or unlawful access, loss, theft, use, destruction or disclosure by the offending partner or its sub-contractors, employees, agents or any other person within the control of the offending partner of any data obtained in connection with this Agreement.

8. Individuals who cannot be covered by the Indemnity

The parties to this DEA understand that in keeping with Government initiatives to invite a wider spectrum of society to assist the relevant authorities to implement the Crime and Disorder Act 2000, it is likely that there will be individuals present at certain meetings who are not employed by an organisation and therefore are not in a position to sign this DEA due to the liability of the indemnity.

In order to ensure that the Data Controllers who are supplying personal information to the meeting fulfil their duties under the Data Protection Act 1998 and that the principles are complied with, it is recommended that the first time any individual attends a meeting covered by a DEA he/she is required to sign a Confidentiality Agreement as at Appendix D. The responsibility for ensuring that this takes place and for retaining the signed copies lies with the Chair of the meeting.

9. Review of Data Exchange Agreement

All DEAs will be reviewed and subjected to a risk based audit. This section should define how and when the DEA will be reviewed and audited. It is recommended that each DEA is reviewed one year after signature and at an agreed period thereafter. This review is the responsibility of the individuals who own the applications where the data originates from and should be carried out in consultation with the Data Protection/Information Security Section. Guidance on how to carry out the review is attached as Appendix F.

10. Closure/Termination of Agreement

Any Partner Organisation can suspend this DEA for 45 days if security has been seriously breached. This should be in writing and be evidenced.

Any suspension will be subject to a Risk Assessment and Resolution meeting, the panel of which will be made up of the signatories of this Agreement, or their nominated representative. This meeting is to take place within 14 days of any suspension.

Termination of this Data Exchange Agreement should be in writing to all other Partner Organisations giving at least 30 days notice.

11. Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA)

“Each Partner Organisation (PO) shall publish this DEA on its website and refer to it within its Publication Scheme. If a PO wishes to withhold all or part of the DEA from publication it shall inform the other PO’s as soon as reasonably possible. Partner Organisations shall then endeavour to reach a collective decision as to whether information is to be withheld from publication or not. Information shall only be withheld where, should an application for that information be made under FOIA 2000, it is likely that the information would be exempt from disclosure and the public interest lie in favour of withholding. However, nothing in this paragraph shall prevent the individual Partner Organisations from exercising its obligations and responsibilities under FOIA 2000 as it sees fit.

12. Requests for Disclosure of Information received under this DEA

All recorded information held by public sector agencies is subject to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Data Protection Act 1998. While there is no requirement to consult with third parties under FOIA, the parties to this DEA will consult the party from whom the information originated and will consider their views to inform the decision making process. All decisions to disclose must be recorded by the disclosing organisation.

13. Appropriate Signatories

Each Partner should identify who is the most appropriate post holder within their agency to sign the DEA having taken account of their organisational policy and the fact that the signatory must have delegated responsibility to commit their organisation to the indemnity. It is the responsibility of the individuals identified at 3.2 to ensure that copies of the DEA are made available as necessary to ensure adherence to the DEA.

I confirm that this DEA has been prepared in consultation with the Data Protection Officer/ Information Governance Manager/ Caldicott Guardian (delete as appropriate) for each signatory.

Appendix F - Process for Review of a Data Exchange Agreement

The aim of a review is to ensure that the DEA is achieving its purpose and that the actual process of exchanging data is operating efficiently.

1 Policy Statements and Purpose of this Data Exchange Agreement

Is the policy statement and the purpose as identified in the DEA still accurate in relation to the present use of the data?

2 Legal Basis for Data Exchange

Do the legal bases in the DEA cover all the parties?

3 What data is it necessary to exchange?

Is the data which is exchanged by the parties in accordance with the DEA?

4 Who is going to be responsible for exchanging this data and ensuring data is accurate?

Is the contact list up to date and accurate?

5 How will you keep a record of what information has been exchanged?

How are the parties keeping a record of what information has been exchanged?
Random samples of the data exchanged could be checked against the source record to see if there is evidence of the data exchange

6 How is this information going to be exchanged?

Is data still being exchanged in accordance with the DEA?

7 Who will have access to this data and what may they use it for?

What use of the data is made by the parties receiving data and is access restricted in accordance with the DEA?

8 Timescales

Are any timescales in the DEA being adhered to?

9 How securely does the data need to be stored?

Are all the parties applying the security measures in accordance with the DEA?

10 How long are you going to keep the data?

Are all the parties retaining and destroying the data in accordance with the DEA?

11 Further Use of Data

Is there any evidence that data is being used by any party for purposes other than in accordance with the DEA without consent from the originator?

12 Breach of confidentiality

Have there been any breaches of confidentiality which have not been reported to the other parties? How have any breaches been dealt with?

13 Indemnity/confidentiality agreements

Is there evidence that any individual who is not covered by an organisation which is a signatory to the DEA has signed a Confidentiality Agreement and are these held on behalf of the Chair?

14 Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA)

Is this DEA publicly available and also available internally for relevant staff?

15 Requests for Disclosure of Information received under this DEA

Have there been any instances where a party has disclosed information received under this DEA without consulting the originating party?

16 Appropriate Signatories

Is the DEA signed by appropriate staff?

APPENDIX G

1. INDEMNITY AGREEMENT:

- 1.1 In consideration of the provision of information, the partners identified in Appendix A Partner Agencies, the signatory organisations undertake to indemnify any of those partners included in this Information Sharing Protocol against any liability which may be incurred by one of the partners as a result of the provision of such information.
- 1.2 In respect of every disclosure, the receiving party undertakes to indemnify the disclosing party against all actions, claims, demands and proceedings and all damages, costs and expenses incurred in connection therewith made or brought against the other party by any person in respect of any loss or distress to that person by the loss, unauthorised destruction, or disclosure of any personal data by the party which has been disclosed to them in confidence by the other. "disclosure of any personal data" also includes "any disclosure found to be in contravention of the Data Protection Act 1998".
- 1.3 Provided that this indemnity shall not apply where the liability arises from information supplied which is shown to have been incomplete or incorrect (i.e. where the information does not comply with the fourth data protection principle) unless the partner claiming the benefit of this indemnity establishes that the error did not result from any wilful wrongdoing or negligence on its part.
- 1.4 Further this indemnity shall not apply unless the partner claiming the benefit of this indemnity notifies the granting partner as soon as possible and no later than [seven] days from the date that gives rise to any action, claim or demand to which this indemnity applies of such action, claim or demand, permits the granting partner to deal with the action, claim or demand by settlement or otherwise and renders the granting partner all reasonable assistance in so doing .
- 1.5 This indemnity shall not apply to the extent that the partner claiming the benefit of the indemnity makes any admission which may be prejudicial to the defence of the action, claim or demand. By signing Appendix A Partners agree that they have read, understood and agree to abide by the terms and conditions of this policy. In addition
 - All information received under this protocol will only be used for the purposes defined and listed in the protocol and subsequent Data Exchange Agreements.

- Information received under this protocol will not be disclosed to another agency without the agreement of the agency that provided the information in the first place.
- Information will be retained no longer than is necessary and will be protected by security measures equal to those stipulated in the section on Security Measures, i.e. working towards BS7799.
